

Foam Insulated Fuel Tank

Abstract of Disclosure

A relatively lightweight generator base tank for storing flammable and combustible liquids comprising an inner primary tank encased by foam and fire resistant material which is further encased by an outer secondary tank. The system results in a storage tank that is less likely to leak hazardous substances to the environment and is protected from fire and physical damage.

FOIb-03912290